Foot's Block, in Springfield, Mass., was damaged to the extent of twenty-five thousand dollars, on Tuesday night. Insured in Hartford.

Building No. 74 Fulton street, New York, occupied by Sullivan & Piper as a box factory, Holton & Lee's clothing wareroom, and other occupants, was damaged to the amount of seventy-five thousand dollars, early yesterday morning, by fire.

The bridge over the East river, New York, will cost about nine millions of dollars. It is to be eighty feet wide and over one mile in length.

Harriet Livermore, a remarkable woman, who traveled in the East and wrote several works of merit, died in Germantown, near Philadelphia, on Tuesday, aged eighty-two years.

A dispatch from Marysville, near Harrisburg, says that by the falling of a tree near that place, on Monday, John Hemphill was killed, and James Orr and J. A. Naylor were seriously injured.

The Spiritualists of Boston and vicinity celebrated the twentieth anniversary of the advent of modern spiritualism on Tuesday, at Music Hall, in that city. In the afternoon there was a parade through the city of some four or five hundred children—pupils of the Progressive Lyceum. On their arrival at Music Hall they went through oral and gymnastic exercises. In the evening there was a public meeting, over which Dr. H. F. Gardner presided, and made an address. Others also made addresses, and telegrams of similar gatherings in Cleveland and Chicago were received. Dancing was indulged in, and a collation concluded the anniversary. A similar programme was carried out by the spiritualists of St. Louis.

The new steamer Baltimore sailed for Europe yesterday from Baltimore, with a full cargo and quite a number of passengers. As she moved out of her dock she was greeted by salutes and cheers from a vast number of people. The second steamer of the new line is expected to arrive next week, and the third and fourth are now building on the Clyde under the new law.

Reports from Fort Laramie say that the Cheyennes and Northern Arapahoes will be fully represented at the Indian Council. The Sioux are not in yet, but are expected to arrive by the seventh, when the Commission will probably reach Laramie. Passengers by the Santa Fe coach, which reached Hays City, Kansas, on the 30th ultimo, report that on the Wednesday previous the Indians robbed a train camped on the Arkansas river, twenty-five miles below Fort Dodge, of twenty-five mules, and the next day robbed another train of six mules and all its provisions. The Indians committing these depredations are said to be the Cheyennes.

In Washington, yesterday, Samuel Strong, who, on Saturday, surrendered himself to the Marshal, a requisition having been received from General Schofield, commanding the First Military District, for him as a fugitive from Richmond, where an indictment had been found, charging him having obtained signatures to a promissory note by false representations, was before Chief Justice Cartter. After some conversation as to the points to be argued, Judge Cartter expressed a desire to hear discussed the relation of the military authority in Virginia to the civil power, and whether the military commandant occupies the position of Chief Executive of the State, it having been stated that there was also a requisition from Governor Pierpoint. Mr. Merrick said that Mr. Pierpoint is not Governor of that State. The further hearing of the case was then continued till to-morrow. There were present many members of the bar, as well as other persons, the question involved being regarded with much interest.

An extensive strike has taken place among the workmen in the railroad and other shops in Cleveland. The men from McNary, Claflin & Co.'s car works, the Pittsburgh shops, and other works, turned out yesterday, numbering about one thousand. The cause of complaint as stated by the strikers is increase of time of labor without an increase of pay. All is quiet and orderly.

The funeral of the seven miners, victims of the Diamond mine accident at Scranton, Pa., Tuesday, took place yesterday, at Hyde Park Cemetery, in the presence of four thousand people.

The interior of the Webster woolen mill, in Saliston, Me., was burned Monday night. Loss heavy, partially insured.

The Democratic Central Committee of Louisiana have withdrawn the ticket nominated by them, and recommend the meeting of the various ward clubs to choose delegates to the city and parish convention to meet in New Orleans April 6, to decide the question of local nominations. The committee still adheres to its suggestion that full Congressional, legislative and judicial tickets are to be put in the field, and that the present incumbents, so far as practicable and consistent with the interests of the party, be renominated.

Political excitement is intense all over North Carolina. Both candidates for Governor, also Ex-Governors Graham and Vance and other leading men, are canvassing the State. Not less than two hundred speeches per day are being made.

The Metropolitan police bill as it passed the Ohio Senate passed the House yesterday, and is now a law.

In New Albany, Ind., yesterday, Mrs. Mary M. Koch committed suicide by hanging herself in the back room of her husband's residence. Cause, temporary insanity, superinduced by the use of strong drink.

At Cienfuegos, the British brig Ida C., after having taken in all her cargo, was detained by the authorities, as some of the crew were implicated in concealing some stolen jewelry and silks, amounting to $1,500. A negro cook and one seaman were imprisoned, and a guard placed on board the brig. She will probably be forced to unload.

It is understood Gen. Schofield will shortly issue an order removing Gov. Pierpont, Joseph Mayo, Mayor of Richmond, and Thomas U. Dudley, City Sergeant.

In the Iowa House of Representatives yesterday, the Judiciary Committee reported in favor of instructing the Attorney General to take the legal steps necessary to insure the construction of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad, which report was concurred in.

The case of Cora James, for common larceny, terminated at St. Louis yesterday, and the jury assessed six months' imprisonment in the county jail.

The California Union State Convention met at Sacramento Tuesday, and selected delegates to the National Republican Convention, in [illegible]

ment at Chicago. The resolutions indorse the action of Congress on reconstruction measures, the matter of impeachment, and express confidence that the Senate will fairly and impartially discharge the duty imposed on the court of impeachment, favor the strictest economy in the administration of national affairs, regard the repudiation of the National debt as a crime against the loyal dead, the abandonment of the principles upon which the war for the Union was fought, a violation of plighted honor, consider it the duty of the Government to protect citizens at home and abroad to the fullest extent of the national power, especially that no foreign nation be permitted to arrest and punish Americans for any offense committed on our own soil. General Grant is the unanimous choice of the Convention for President.

The tone of the discussion of the Burlingame mission by the English papers in China has been modified considerably. One paper says: "He is the accredited agent of the oldest empire in the world, yet a citizen of the newest republic, born and nurtured in the fresh air of liberty, he appears as the representative of the oldest despotism. Such a position may appear at first anomalous, but it is a position of uncompelled interest, and on his reception at home hang the weightiest consequences. We believe Mr. Burlingame to be more master of the situation than it is the fashion to suppose."

The Boston bark Minnie, with a cargo of coffee for San Francisco, was lost on the St. David's Island December 13th. The captain and his wife, with three sailors, were picked up from one of the ships boats, and taken to Shanghai.

A. A. Bradley, the colored lawyer, is circulating through Savannah, Georgia, and the adjoining country the following circular, which causes considerable excitement: "Notice to all bad men in the city of Savannah, who now threaten the lives of the leaders and nominees of the Republican party and of the Presidents and members of the Union League of America. If you should strike a blow, the man or men will be followed, and the house in which he or they take shelter will be burned to the ground. Take heed, mark well. Members of the Union, rally, rally, rally for God, life and liberty."

A Memphis dispatch says: Last night a negro constabout on the Tom Daly was detected in an attempt to steal a box of tobacco, and tied down on deck. This morning the negroes on the lower board of it, and went aboard, demanding his release. The watchman, named Taylor, struck the leader, named Johnson, on the head with a hatchet, wounding him severely. The negroes became infuriated. Taylor jumped on to the Darling, and but for the arrival of the police, would have been killed. He was held to answer on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

SALEM, OHIO.

A Disastrous Fire—Loss About $61,000—Names of Losers and Amount of Insurance.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.
SALEM, Ohio, April 1, 1868.

About nine o'clock last night fire was discovered in the rear of a portion of Adams & Bro's grocery store, which, notwithstanding the utmost exertions of the firemen and citizens, was, with its contents, soon destroyed. The Republican building was somewhat damaged by fire and water. It was occupied by Sturgeon & Sons' clothing store, the Republican office, and Boston & Weston's label printing establishment, each of which suffered more or less from the removal of stock, water, &c.

The losses are estimated as follows: Joshua Boone, building, five thousand dollars, insured for thirty-five hundred in Hartford, Conn., and Columbiana Mutual. Adams & Bro., six thousand, insured for four thousand in the Hartford. J. Rubenheed, damage to building, loss on tops, &c., one thousand, fully insured. Boston & Weston about seven hundred, insured in North America of Philadelphia and Phoenix of Hartford. Grand Army of the Republic about three hundred; no insurance. Charles Boone about three hundred; insured. Sturgeon & Son loss from damage to stock, missing goods, &c., about seven hundred; no insurance.

The hall of the G. A. R. was located immediately over the portion of the building in which the fire originated, and was occupied during the evening by a party of young ladies and gentlemen rehearsing a dramatic performance. They left the hall on the alarm of fire, and the fires they occupied fell in almost immediately afterwards. The store had been shut up for some time, and the inside of the rear portion was almost entirely burnt out before it was discovered.

A new steam fire engine, destined for Pomeroy, Ohio, was standing on the car at the railroad depot, and it was put in operation and did effective service. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

MOUNT VERNON, OHIO.

Pittsburgh, Mt. Vernon and Indianapolis Railway—Subscriptions to Capital Stock—Route of the Proposed Road.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.
MOUNT VERNON, Ohio, April 1, 1868.

Subscription books for the stock of the Pittsburgh, Mt. Vernon and Indianapolis Railroad were opened at this city yesterday. Stock to the amount of twenty-eight thousand two hundred dollars was subscribed. The capital is one million five hundred thousand dollars. The following counties have pledged the following amounts: Knox county, eighty thousand dollars; Delaware county, forty thousand dollars; Logan county, twenty thousand dollars; Union county, twenty thousand dollars.

The road commences at the town of Coshocton, connecting with the Pittsburgh, Columbus and Cincinnati Railroad, and passes through Gambier, Mount Vernon, Delaware, Marysville, and Union county, connecting with the Bellefontaine and Indiana Railroad at Bellefontaine. The Ohio House of Representatives has passed a bill releasing the Walhonding canal to this company for railroad purposes. The road passes over the track of the Pittsburgh, Mount Vernon and Springfield road from Kinderhook, Knox county, to Delaware, which is already graded; thence over the Pittsburgh, Mount Vernon and Springfield Railroad to Marysville, Union county; thence over the bed of a road nearly graded from Marysville to Bellefontaine, having a gap of only twelve miles from the terminus of the Walhonding canal to Kinderhook of new road to be made. This is an important road, and can be put in running order at less expense than any other proposed railroad in the State.

CRESTLINE, OHIO.

Illicit Distillery Seized—Fatal Railway Accident.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.
CRESTLINE, Ohio, April 1, 1868.

The United States Marshal from Cleveland to-day discovered a distillery in the suburbs of this city, which has evaded the law for some six weeks as a vinegar factory. It had formerly been used as a mineral water factory. The business was carried on by two brothers, Frederick Newman and Adolphus Newman, who had an old German running the machine. They were suspected, some time since, for their strictness in excluding a number of citizens who tried to gain admittance. They had shipped a large quantity as vinegar to different places. Adolphus Newman was arrested this morning by the Marshal and taken to Cleveland. Frederick, however, made his escape, and has not been heard of since.

A fatal accident occurred two miles and a half North of this place this evening about five o'clock, on the Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati Railroad. A laborer on the road, named James Sullivan, was burning grass some distance from his companions, and getting tired, lay down on the outside of the track and got asleep. When the freight train came along, the noise rousing him, he attempted to raise, when the train struck him on the head, killing him instantly. He was taken to this place on a train for an inquest.

Trial Satisfactorily Progressing.

Gen. Thomas's Declarations to Use Force.

TESTIMONY THEREOF ADMITTED.

A "Delaware Boy" on the Stand.

He Upsets the Gravity of the Court.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 1, 1868.
Burleigh's Testimony Admitted.

The Republicans are well satisfied with the progress and character of the day's proceedings in the trial. The legislation in both branches is practically suspended. The House met at noon, and dispensing with the reading, after a few sentences of the journal, went immediately over to the Senate. The attendance of members is daily decreasing. At the opening of the trial Mr. Sumner attacked the sense of the Senate on the question of the right of the Chief Justice to vote when the Senate was equally divided, which was decided in favor of Mr. Chase by 26 to 22. The counsel for the President labored strenuously to have the various conversations of Thomas ruled out, but in all cases they were overruled either by the Chief Justice or the Senate.

General Thomas's Declarations.

Mr. Burleigh, of Dakotah, finished his testimony begun yesterday by relating that Thomas had declared that he should use force to get into the War Department if necessary, and afterwards that his arrest by civil authorities alone had prevented him. Mr. Stanbery's cross-examination of this witness was of a higher order than that of yesterday. Samuel Wilkinson, the well known journalist, gives a very clear account of an interview with Thomas and the statements of the latter on two occasions that he should call on Grant for troops, and that he did not see how Grant could refuse. Evidence was admitted Samuel to by all present, and the examination of the next witness gave rise to continued and violent laughter on all sides.

A Mirth-Provoking Witness.

Mr. Karsner, of Delaware, is one of the large farmers of that State, "a Delaware boy," as he termed himself, though some forty-five years old. He was perfectly unembarrassed and apparently utterly ignorant that either his style of words were in the least ludicrous, but the account of his visit to the White House, his meeting General Thomas in the east room, telling him the eyes of Delaware were on him, and his relating it all afterward to a man named Smith, and whose first name was not John but William, was droll to the last degree. The Chief Justice laughed till he shook. Counsel laughed. The managers put their heads down on the table and laughed till the tumblers rattled on it. Senators held their sides and laughed, the galleries responded heartily, and in fact the whole audience, official and unofficial, filling the inside of the chamber, shook till the collusion to a bowl of jelly was quite applicable to the audience as a whole. It is safe to say there has never been such general and long continued laughter in the Senate chamber before.

Better Prepared.

The managers show better preparation than counsel for the defense, and no point presents itself which they do not seem to have foreseen. General Butler is forcing himself into more and more general favor every day, in spite of the prejudices which have been excited and kept alive by his enemies. Counsel for the President are greatly dissatisfied with the result of the day, and the managers are proportionately elated.

DEBATE IN BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

The Irish Church Establishment.

Popular Outbreaks at Grenoble.

The Pope and Victor Emanuel III.

English System of Telegraphy.

Parliament.

LONDON, March 31.—The debate in the Commons last night on the Irish church was the most important which has taken place during the session of Parliament. Mr. Gladstone, a portion of whose remarks were telegraphed last night, made a masterly speech in support of his resolutions for the abolition of the Irish church establishment, placing himself on a line with the advanced members of the Liberal party on this question. After giving reasons for past inaction, he showed the necessity for the immediate consideration of the subject, and explained the tendency and effect of the resolutions which he had introduced to meet the emergency. He dilated on the great effect for good which a termination of the ascendency of the Irish church as a State establishment would have in removing jealousies and mitigating sectarian bitterness. In treating this question he said the members of Parliament should exclude all party feeling, and act solely for the public good. No one could deny that each of the church organizations in Ireland, irrespective of creed, aimed to do good; but the church as an establishment of the State had miserably failed to do any good. Now that the penal laws against Catholics were no longer in force, the number of Protestants in Ireland did not exceed one fifth of the population, and it was a great injustice to compel the whole country to support a church for the benefit of so small a minority of the members of the House of Commons, which urged us to disregard fears and prejudices; and when the Irish people asked for religious equality, grant the demand, placing their reliance on the justice of the act. He praised the Roman Catholic clergy for their firmness and loyalty in opposing Fenianism.

In regard to the measures for the disestablishment of the Irish Church, Mr. Gladstone said he did not intend to press the question to a final decision until a new Parliament should meet; but he should urge that the Government cease to make any appointments to fill vacancies in the higher grades of the Irish Church, in order to leave the case clear for future action. Had he not believed that the House was ready to deal earnestly with the question, he would not have resorted to that weakest of devices, an abstract resolution, but he hoped the introduction of these resolutions would be followed by active steps for carrying them into effect next year so that perhaps the present generation might see the great reform completed.

After sharply criticizing the proposed resolution of Lord Stanley to postpone the consideration of the whole subject until the next meeting of Parliament, he closed his speech with an eloquent appeal to the House to vindicate its character and dignity by its course on the important question now to be decided. Mr. Gladstone was loudly cheered as he took his seat.

In reply, Lord Stanley owned that the Government fully recognized the gravity of the matter under discussion, but he had no desire to place the question on a false basis. The ministry did not seek to shirk the issue by trickery, as had been charged; they only wanted time to consider the subject before acting on it. The resolutions before the House were vague and general, and the plan as outlined by the right honorable member from Lancaster, Mr. Gladstone, was not at once practicable.

The disestablishment of the Irish Church was one thing, disendowment was another. He complained that the right honorable member had left them in the dark. The House should wait until the commission on the Irish Church had made a report on their investigations. Here was a requisition which had been postponed for thirty-four years, and the right honorable member wished to have it settled in a day, and asked the House to commit itself by pledge. Was it right for an expiring Parliament to leave this legacy of resolutions to its successor? It was done only to raise a cry which might be used in the coming elections.

Lord Stanley then endeavored to convict Mr. Gladstone of inconsistency, by quoting from the record of his vote and speeches, and concluded his speech by declaring the Irish people cared more for the land than the church question, and offered the resolution of which he gave notice on Friday, viz.: That the whole subject of a change in the Irish Church establishment be left to be dealt with by the next Parliament.

Mr. Leathers and Mr. Moncriffe spoke in opposition to the resolution of Stanley.

Mr. O'Neill supported the resolution for a postponement, and was followed by Mr. Cochran, who advocated postponement, and in the course of his remarks said he believed Protestantism was in danger in consequence of the attacks which had been made upon the old established church. Mr. Crairborne opposed both resolutions of Gladstone and Stanley.

Mr. Laige moved to amend Gladstone's resolutions as follows:

Resolved, That while the principles of disestablishment of the Irish Church should be settled by the present House, the practical details of such a measure may be left to the next Parliament, the as ... of which the Ministry should use every means to hasten.

Mr. Laige made an able argument in support of his motion.

The Solicitor General made a brief speech sustaining the motion of Lord Stanley. At the conclusion of his remarks the debate adjourned.

LONDON, Midnight, March 31.—In the Commons to-night, the adjourned debate on the Irish Church was resumed. Mr. Githorne regretted that a question so important had been introduced in the House with so much acrimony. The Ministers had been attacked in front and flank. The motion of Lord Stanley for postponement only sought to escape a too hasty consideration of the resolution brought forward by Mr. Gladstone. A vast amount of property was involved, and the country should be first consulted. He dilated on Mr. Gladstone's change of views, which he said was of very recent growth. He denied that there had been a large increase in the Catholic population of Ireland since 1834, and asserted that the number of the Protestants had increased in larger ratio. Before plundering the Protestants a definite plan should be proposed. The clergy and laity were equally concerned. The disendowment of the church would not still the agitation in Ireland. He said at a recent meeting in Ireland, a Catholic Bishop presiding, declared the land tenure, not the church question, was the real question.

Mr. Hardy thought the House should not adopt the resolutions without obtaining more knowledge as to the plan which should be adopted to remedy the evils spoken of, and as to what purposes the secularized revenues of the church are to be applied. He declared that the course of action proposed by Mr. Gladstone was unconstitutional, and approved Lord Stanley's motion for postponement. He would never consent to see the church dissevered in Ireland while that country was united with England.

Mr. Goshen said Mr. Hardy differed from Lord Stanley in denouncing all change. The price to be paid for the revenues of the Irish Church could be arranged at a future time. The question of principle was now to be settled. He replied one by one to the points made by Mr. Hardy, and denied that disendowment would lead to agitation when the time was opportune for a great reform. The ministry submitted to the House an Irish policy which was no policy at all. The Liberals would have urged the issue when they had the government, had it not been that the tories would oppose all change. It was only when the tories were in power that such an issue could be hopefully raised. If the thing was right, the sooner it was done the better.

Mr. Dawson, member for Londonderry, opposed Gladstone's resolution. Messrs. Townes, Bruce and Carter advocated the settlement of the church question, saying that of the land tenure would follow.

Mr. Knox said the resolutions were the most cowardly ever submitted to the House. Why not produce a bill at once? Such measures as were proposed would not satisfy the Catholics, while at the same time they would estrange the Protestants.

The Attorney General for Ireland sustained Lord Stanley.

Mr. John Bright said the debate had produced a series of remarkable changes in opinions and expression of the tories. Mr. Hardy, not liking Lord Stanley's speech, had given a new version of the policy of the Government, and new ones were to be expected nightly. While Lord Lord Stanley thought the state of Ireland detestable, Mr. Hardy dissented from and refuted that view, and on Thursday Mr. Disraeli would probably dissent from and refute the views of Mr. Hardy. The result of this was a political change in which the ministry was no Government, and the opposition no opposition, for the ministry offered nothing to oppose.

Mr. Bright continued: Six hundred thousand Protestants in Ireland had two archbishops and twelve bishops, with an income of twelve millions sterling, yet the established church was a failure, either as a means of conversion or otherwise, and the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus was none the less necessary. If Ireland was to be reconciled to England, antiquated prejudices must be dismissed. The Church in England had its own peril—internal disruptions over the ritual. All men, said Mr. Bright, learn something, even a Prime Minister. All begin to see the great principle which underlies these great questions. He asked the House to grasp the subject boldly, tear up the foul weeds, and leave the Irish Church an ornament full of grace for all within her influence. Ireland asks for atonement; England is ready to make it. Why should the opportunity for reconciliation be deferred?

At the conclusion of Mr. Bright's speech, the debate was adjourned until the second of April.

RECONSTRUCTION.

The Virginia Convention—The Charge of Bribery Against Judge Underwood—Basis of Representation.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.
RICHMOND, VA., April 1, 1868.

In the Convention the greater part of the day was consumed in a discussion of the Underwood-Hawxhurst bribery case. The resolution introduced last Wednesday, to appoint a committee to investigate into the charges made by Hawxhurst that Underwood had attempted to bribe the members of the Republican State Committee by an offer of one hundred thousand dollars if a Chase delegation could be sent from this State to the Chicago Convention, being the order of the day, Judge Underwood vacated the Chair and rose to a privileged question, denying that he ever made any effort to bribe the members of the Executive Committee, or that he had any conversation with Chase and Sprague in reference to money. He characterized Hawxhurst's statements as wholly false, and said every member of the Executive Committee would bear witness to their falsity.

Mr. Hawxhurst replied, reiterating his statements, but producing no evidence whatever in support of the assertion. On motion the subject was indefinitely postponed by a vote of 50 to 17, the members of the Convention, Republicans and Democrats, being alike disgusted with the whole proceedings.

The report of the Committee on the basis of representation was then taken up, and pending discussion upon it, the convention adjourned.

A colored member was in the chair to-day for the first time since the session began.

Mississippi Convention.

JACKSON, April 1.—In the Convention to-day, the report of the Legislative Committee was adopted on third reading. The Immigration Committee submitted a plan of immigration, which provides for forming a stock company, whose object will be to purchase, lease and improve land, and have power to borrow money on mortgages.

The revolutionists in the interior of Columbia were defeated in an attempt to bribe the military in Carthagena. It was discovered in time to prevent an outbreak.

Merchants here are protesting against the heavy taxes. A jury was empannelled to try the murderers of the officers of the steamer R. R. Cuyler in September.

The British Consul at Santa Martha has undertaken to effect a reconciliation between the States of Magdalena and Bolivia. Americans and other foreigners at Barbacos demanded redress from the authorities for outrages on their persons and property by natives.

It was expected the half million dollars advanced by Chile to Armand, of France, to build iron clads will be a total loss to the Government.

A new silver mine was discovered at Nuscoe, Chile.

Fears are felt for the wheat crop of Chile on account of heavy rains. The Chilean navy is nearly a nonentity.

Peru has effected a loan of twelve millions. Col. Balta is likely to be her next President. Capt. Montero and other officers of the Peruvian navy were sent to Chile to prevent meddling in politics. The custom duties were fixed at the same rates as under Prado. The yellow fever prevails in Lima to some extent. B. F. Bates, an American, died of it.

The British ship Tudor was burnt in the harbor of Callao. Loss $60,000.

Slight shocks of earthquake were felt at Guayaquil. No damage done.

ALBANY, April 1.—James A. Bell was confirmed Auditor of the Canal Department in the Senate to-day.

Majority and minority reports were made in the matter of the Erie Railroad. The majority regard the dealings of the directors of that road as highly reprehensible, and for purposes of private emolument. The stock, they say, fraudulently put in circulation, is nevertheless valid and binding against the company in the hands of bona fide holders, who have their remedies in the courts of justice; and demands that the unfaithful agents be removed, but as the courts have ample power over them, the committee deem it unnecessary to report a bill. The minority commend the action of the Erie Directory, and think an act should be passed legalizing the ten millions of stock and contracts with the Hartford and Erie and Michigan Southern roads, and prohibiting any Director of Erie being a Director in the Hudson, Harlem and Central, and vice versa, or any future contract tending to the consolidation of said roads, etc. No action by Senate.

It is understood the Canal Commissioners have determined to open the Eastern division of the Erie canal on the 20th inst., and the middle and western divisions May 1st. Black river and Champlain, Canada, will be opened the 1st of May.

In the Senate to-night a bill was introduced providing punishment by imprisonment from two to five years for the unauthorized issue of stock by corporations of this State.

SECOND EDITION.

4 O'CLOCK, A. M.

HARRISBURG.

Additional State Lunatic Hospital.

Commissioners to Select a Site.

Recording of Soldiers Discharge Papers.

DEFEAT OF RETROCESSION BILL.

Pittsburgh Consolidation Act Undisturbed.

Vote of Allegheny Members Thereon.

The Senate Free Railroad Bill.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.
HARRISBURG, PA., April 1, 1868.
SENATE.

The original Senate Free Railroad bill was substituted for the new House Free Railroad law, with the provisions objected to by the Governor stricken out.

Bills Passed Finally.

Revising, amending and consolidating the laws regarding and licensing foreign Insurance Companies.

Preventing disturbance of camp meetings and other religious assemblages.

Refunding to banks the tax paid under the act of February 23, 1866, declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court.

Authorizing the State to furnish persons with blank books.

Granting to canals the same privileges as railroads now enjoy, allowing canal companies to increase facilities for transportation, as it came from the House.

Repealing the well known liquor license law of last Winter, as it came from the House.

Allowing insurance companies to transact business in other States.

Making eight hours a legal day's labor.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Senate bill establishing an additional State Lunatic Hospital for Northern Pennsylvania, was amended by the appointment of Doctors Jos. A. Reed, of Pittsburgh, John Curwen, of Harrisburg, and Traill Green, of Easton, as Commissioners to select a site for the buildings, and passed second reading.

Senate bill authorizing Recorders of Deeds to record the discharges of honorably discharged soldiers passed finally.

Senate bill for the protection of sidewalks upon public roads and in unincorporated towns, passed finally.

House bill exempting manufacturing, mining and quarrying companies from taxation on net earnings or income, when their capital stock is taxed, was defeated after considerable discussion.

Senate bill providing that all railroad companies merging prior to the act of May 16th, 1861, shall have the same powers as companies merging under said act passed finally.

AFTERNOON SESSION.—The following Bills Passed Finally.

Incorporating the Union Lumber and Boom Company, to use the Youghiogheny River and tributaries; capital unlimited.

Authorizing Millvale borough, Allegheny county, to loan five thousand dollars for school purposes.

Authorizing School Board of Connellsville, Fayette county, to borrow money.

Authorizing the removals of ruins of dams and locks of Youghiogheny Slack Water Company.

For vacation and sale of burial grounds of Associate Reformed Church, Pittsburgh, and removal of bodies.

Incorporating Miners and Mechanics' Co-operation Association of Monongahela City.

Relative to claim of James Dignam, of Allegheny county, contractor on the old Portage Railroad, which authorizes examination and payment.

Adjourned till evening.

EVENING SESSION.—The following Bills Passed Finally.

The Railroad Liabilities bill as amended on second reading.

The Senate supplement to an act for the better management of the Allegheny prison.

Retrocession Act Defeated.

The bill repealing the Pittsburgh Consolidation Act, popularly known as the "Retrocession Bill," recently introduced by Mr. Smith of Allegheny, was considered.

Mr. Wilson, of Allegheny, made a lengthy speech against the bill.

Mr. Smith, of Allegheny, offered an amendment leaving it to the qualified electors in the townships of Oakland, Collins, Liberty, Peebles and Pitt to vote for or against consolidation at the next October election, and the townships to be disconnected with Pittsburgh if a majority decide against consolidation. He spoke at great length for his amendment, believing it ought to satisfy all parties.

Mr. Ford, of Allegheny, followed against the amendment and the bill.

Mr. Miller, of Allegheny, spoke against the bill.

The amendment was voted down by yeas 18; nays 58. Messrs. Beckert, Smith and Riddle, of Allegheny, voted aye, and Ford, Miller and Wilson, of Allegheny, voted no.

The bill was also voted down.

Adjourned.

THE CAPITAL.

HANCOCK HOLDS A RECEPTION.

The Baltimore Democratic Conference.

Object to Commit Maryland Against Pendleton.

Special Dispatch to Commercial.
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 1, 1868.
General Hancock.

General Hancock has not yet called on General Grant. On arriving he left word at headquarters that if General Grant wanted to see him he could be found at the Metropolitan. To-day he held a reception for the officers under him in this city.

An April First Joke.

This morning a number of citizens were sold. A morning paper announced that Minister Burlingame had arrived at the navy yard, with a fleet of five junks; that they would be open to inspection during the day, and that Burlingame and his whole party would be presented to the President by Secretary Seward, in the East room, ladies only to be admitted. There was a comfortable crowd both at the navy yard and Executive mansion, but no junks at the first or Chinese at the White House.

Maryland Democratic Scheme.

The consultation in Baltimore last night between Blair, Swann and other Maryland politicians had reference to an attempt to get up a Presidential ticket with Hancock at its head, and Blair or some other Maryland man for the second place, with the intention of effecting such an organization in Maryland as will enable them to commit the State against Pendleton.

WASHINGTON, April 1.
DEPARTMENT OF THE ATLANTIC.

General Hancock, in published orders, announces Brevet Lieutenant Colonel W. G. Mitchell as Acting Assistant Adjutant General, and Brevet Major General S. S. Carroll as Acting Assistant Inspector General of the Military Department of the Atlantic.

BUTLER AND GRANT.

A Washington special says the difficulty between Butler and Grant has been amicably settled.

THE CHINESE MISSION.

J. Ross Browne, Minister to China, will not leave for that country until the arrival of his predecessor, Mr. Burlingame, in Washington.

NOMINATION REJECTED.

The Senate rejected the nomination of John Hancock, brother of Gen. Hancock, for Collector of Internal Revenue for the First District of Louisiana.

COMMISSIONER OF MINERAL STATISTICS.

It is probable R. W. Raymond, editor of the American Journal of Mining, will receive the appointment of Commissioner of mineral statistics.

DELEGATES ELECTED.

Sayles J. Bowen, Postmaster of this city, and Major W. S. Morse, President of the Soldiers and Sailors' Union, were to-day elected delegates from the District of Columbia to the National Republican Convention at Chicago.

RHODE ISLAND.

THE ELECTION YESTERDAY.

GOVERNOR BURNSIDE RE-ELECTED.

PROVIDENCE, April 1.—The State election occurred to-day. Returns for Governor are received from every town in the State except Block Island. Governor Burnside has a majority of 4,309, which the returns from the missing town will slightly increase. This is a gain of one or two hundred for the Republicans over last year.

The following is the vote: Burnside, Republican, 9,767; Pearce, Democrat, 5,658. Providence City gives Burnside 2,679, and Pearce 1,136. The Legislature will stand—Senate 29 Republicans, 5 Democrats. In two districts there is no choice. House, 62 Republicans, 8 Democrats, and in two districts no choice. The Assembly will be largely in favor of the re-election of Senator Sprague.

The New Organs.

The subscriber announces that the Mason & Hamlin Organ Company has commenced the manufacture of a new grade of Parlor and Chapel Organs, under the trade mark of the "Metropolitan Organ." These Organs are warranted for five years, and are guarranteed superior to any other organ that is made, except the Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organs, and can be sold at such low prices as to defy competition. Liberal discount for cash.

The Daily Commercial

THURSDAY, APRIL 2, 1868.

THE COMMERCIAL is the largest daily paper in the State, and gives fully one-fourth more reading than any other paper in Pittsburgh. It is the only Pittsburgh paper that uses the telegraph liberally, gives full market reports, and all the news of the day.

As proof of the estimate placed on the market reports of the COMMERCIAL, we will state that they are regularly copied by the New York Economist, Shipping List, Iron Age, and other papers of this character in that and other cities, and that leading English commercial papers and circulars regularly reprint them with credit. There is within five hundred miles, hardly an Iron Factory, Oil Refinery, or leading manufactory of any kind that is not a subscriber to the COMMERCIAL, principally, because its reports are the only full and reliable given of the Pittsburgh markets.

So completely has Wall street "discounted" the impeachment trial, that more interest is felt in the Connecticut election and the VANDERBILT-DREW war, than the daily proceedings of the high court, which has already ceased to be a lion among the money changers. All that anybody seems to wish is that the trial may come to an early conclusion as possible, and that the verdict may be reached and executed with perfect propriety, and strict regard for the rights of all concerned.

THE New York Leader, which is a recognized and influential Democratic organ—by which we mean a thing played upon by those whose interest it is to have certain tunes played, according to circumstances—has put up the names of HORATIO SEYMOUR for President and Senator HENDRICKS for Vice President. The significance of this will be better understood when it is known that the Leader is largely under the control of AUGUST BELMONT and is the confidential organ of Tammany Hall.

THE Newark (N. J.) Courier says Mr. COLFAX will have the vote of that State for the Vice Presidency, and it is of the opinion that a stronger ticket than GRANT and COLFAX could not be nominated. The Courier says:

WE were in error yesterday in stating that the Republicans of Lancaster had by a direct vote expressed their preference for COLFAX for Vice-President. The vote taken showed a very large majority for Ex-Gov. CURTIN over all others, and it is for him and not COLFAX that THADDEUS STEVENS advises the Pennsylvania delegates to vote, and for WADE as their second choice. Referring to this matter the Philadelphia Press says:

[illegible]

WHERE did King THEODORE of Abyssinia, get his artillery? This question is now sometimes asked, and we confess our inability to answer it with precision. Probably his heavy guns are of a very rude description, and they may be of native manufacture. There is an old civilization such as it is, in Abyssinia, and during the last two hundred years the country has been frequently visited by Europeans. The emperors have often had Frenchmen and Germans in their service. Then, for the last century, war has raged in Amhara and Tigre, important divisions of the empire. The Abyssinians might learn how to cast guns, either from Europe or from India. We have seen big guns in India two hundred years old, and for ages there has been some intercourse between that country and Abyssinia. In India natives of Abyssinia are often found at the present time in the service of the native princes, where they are called Hubshis. As iron is abundant in the mountains of Lasta in Abyssinia, heavy guns of a sort are easily accounted for. If THEODORE has got mortars, shells, etc., he, or his predecessors probably received them from Egypt, from which country are obtained the best sword blades and other cutlery used in the country.

THE Pittsburgh Gazette says the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and the Pittsburgh COMMERCIAL "find their gratification in what the Governor has done," in vetoing the Free Railroad Bill. We have no means of knowing how the Pennsylvania Railroad Company view the act of the Governor, but for ourselves we can say it somewhat surprised us. We were prepared to take the bill as something better than none at all. This we communicated privately and publicly to members of both branches of the Legislature. While we were not prepared for a veto, we are by no means disposed to question either the wisdom or integrity of Governor GEARY. On the contrary, we are assured that his view of the constitutional question involved, is sustained by the Commissioners for revising the Code and other eminent legal ability. The difficulty with our contemporary is, that he is too prone to hold all persons who do not happen to agree with him, either as knaves or downright fools, and to bear himself towards them accordingly. While we regret that the bill in question was not free from objections, both on the score of constitutionality and expediency, we yet hope that the veto may lead to a more perfect one in all respects. What the Pennsylvania Railroad Company expect or desire in the premises, those who are at their service on call can tell better than we can.

THE managers of the impeachment trial, and the Senate, are experiencing rather unexpected obstacles to their getting on with any degree of expedition. The Chief Justice and the Senate appear to be wanting in harmony, and it is predicted that one of the consequences—and the worst that could well be—will be the protraction of the trial considerably beyond what the managers and the country have counted on. If it should turn out so—of which we are not convinced—then the impeachment trial will have lost some of its original and taken on new features, embraced, possibly, new objects, and developed other motives than those understood at the outset. We trust that this may not prove to be the case; that if perfect harmony between the Chief Justice does not exist, it may be brought about before the country has suffered from the lack of it. If the Senate, by any course of its own, unnecessarily protracts the trial, the country will not hesitate to express its displeasure; and if it should appear that the Chief Justice is disposed to do so, either by standing on punctilio or from the no less excusable motive of advancing his own or damaging the aspirations of others, the popular disposition to visit condemnation on him will not be less certain or general. As yet, we repeat, there is no sufficient reason for anticipating all this as the result of the manifest disagreement between the Senate and the Chief Justice—a disagreement which, we are forced to say, so it is publicly understood, has not increased the regard for Mr. CHASE by the party to which he owes his elevation, but materially the favor of the Democrats, among whom his name is becoming familiar as a Presidential candidate.

SHOULD General Grant and Senator Wade be elected President and Vice President, Ohio would have the honor of furnishing the President, Vice President, Chief Justice, Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Senate, and Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means of the House.

THE COURT OF IMPEACHMENT A SCHOOL.

We trust that all citizens will read the proceedings of the great impeachment case now in process of trial. It is the greatest state trial in American history, and will be entitled to no secondary place among the state trials of all time. Every inhabitant of the United States has an immediate interest in its result, whatever it may be; which is a cogent reason why all should watch its progress with close attention. The trial is also worthy of study in its educational aspect. No one can be an attentive spectator of the trial of an important jury case before an intelligent court, without receiving ideas and even a sort of mental training which may be of great value to him both as a man and a citizen. It has frequently been said that the institution of trial by jury must be viewed both as an agency of popular education, and as an instrument for the administration of justice—and that in the former character, it may be almost as valuable as in the latter. As before remarked, the mere spectator of the trial, if he gives its doings close attention, receives from the scene a tincture of education; while the juror whose duty it is to master all the circumstances and details of the case, necessarily receives somewhat more. He learns something of the laws of the land, and of their application; he becomes acquainted with the principles upon which written documents are interpreted; he sees opened fresh pages in the book of human nature, and by listening to and comparing conflicting statements of fact and opposing arguments of counsel, his intellectual faculties are sharpened and invigorated. In an important sense of the word, this is education.

If these remarks are well founded, then we may justly consider the grand investigation now going on in Washington as affording a rare opportunity of education to the American people. The high Court of Impeachment, consisting of the United States Senate, presided over by the Chief Justice, is a people's college. The Senators are not jurors; they are all members of the Court. They are judges. Witnesses will be examined, and the managers of the impeachment and the counsel of the accused will argue the case in their presence, and their votes will determine the question of guilt or innocence at issue. In a sense, the decision of the Senate will be the decision of the people, as the Senators act as their representatives, and are responsible to them. From no point of view, however, is it possible for the people to be indifferent spectators of the great process, or to escape responsibility in its decision. They will judge their representatives, and that they may do this justly and intelligently, they must judge the accused. Every citizen is a juror in the case. Thanks to the Press and to the readiness with which now-a-days spoken words are recorded and transmitted, the people are enabled to follow the proceedings step by step. The testimony of the witnesses and the speeches of the lawyers, place within the reach of all the means of making up their minds as to the merits of both sides of the question. At the present stage of the trial, it does not seem likely that much new light will be cast by it upon the facts already known to the public. General BUTLER's speech is very long, and manifests both the kind and measure of ability which he was expected to display. Perhaps it is rather more moderate and less denunciatory than some anticipated. But General BUTLER has been noted for many years as a very effective and successful practitioner in criminal cases. His style of language and manner of legal discussion, are doubtless quite settled by habit, and perhaps there was no sufficient reason why he should have changed them for the occasion. Probably every reader will be struck with the entire absence of novelty in the speech. Except the purely legal matter it contains, the speech presents absolutely nothing new. Both the facts and the arguments have already been recited again and again in the newspapers. Nor need we expect much novelty in any of the speeches that are yet to be delivered. This circumstance, however, will not prevent the proceedings of the Court from being followed with interest, as every one will desire to know the allegations and arguments on which shall rest the decisions of the Court.

CROP AND FRUIT PROSPECT.

Our friends everywhere will confer a favor by writing us briefly concerning the grain and fruit prospect, and the farming and business prospect generally. We shall be obliged for any item of local interest that may be within their knowledge.

Congress and the Suffrage Question.

Hon. G. V. Lawrence, of the Twenty-fourth District, having been represented in the telegraphic report of the proceedings of Congress as favoring Congressional control of suffrage in all the States of the Union, denies the same in a card published in the Washington, Pa., Reporter as follows. The same report was published generally throughout the country:

Whisky Rascalities.

The conviction is quite general that the practice of Secretary McCulloch of compromising with the distillers has encouraged rascality. It has been severely condemned in the Senate by Fessenden, Morton and others. Fessenden said that he didn't believe there was an honest distiller in the whole country, and it is generally believed at Washington that a large proportion of the revenue officers are dishonest. The statement is openly made in Washington that the distillers have raised $2,000,000 for the purpose of buying up enough Republican Senators to acquit the President. The distillers generally are ardent Johnson men, and seem afraid that Mr. Wade will remove corrupt revenue officers, if he can get at them. The ability is so immense that it can accomplish wonders in Congress, but in the House at least there is a strong desire to enforce the collection of the two dollar tax, no matter what becomes of the distillers or dishonest revenue officers.

STRANGE some persons may think it not a little strange that two influential Roman Catholic papers of the Democratic persuasion politically—one in New York, the other in Cincinnati—should within the last few days have come out for Mr. Chase for President. With them, and as with certain journals which have proposed Mr. Chase more in derision than earnest, they appear to be entirely sincere, a fact which, while there is not the least likelihood of the Democracy adopting Mr. Chase, proves that really there is something at the bottom of the idea. The fact denotes liberality in another respect—Mr. Chase being a leading Methodist.

SENATOR WADE has taken steps preliminary to bringing a suit for libel against the Cleveland Leader. The thing complained of is a Washington letter written by George Alfred Townsend, wherein was reported what purported to be a conversation, in which the Leader and Mr. Chase were spoken of in uncomplimentary terms, and when, it is alleged, the Senator used language that would be more injurious to himself than any one else. He denies the truth of Mr. Townsend's statement, but the latter says he can prove it.

IT is supposed that the late sudden change of temperature proceeds from the "cold wall" of the Gulf Stream. Captain Sturtees, of the ship Gamecock, from Manilla, at New York, reports that while running westward in latitude 38.20, from the "cold wall" of the Gulf Stream, the temperature changed from 78 to 50, with every appearance of being on soundings, and that by correct observations he ascertained that the inner edge of the Gulf Stream was one hundred miles to the east of its usual drift along the land.

ON the guilt of Donovan who was executed at York on Tuesday, there are serious doubts in the minds of many persons. He persisted in asserting his innocence, and the explanation he gave the circumstances which seemed to implicate him was extremely plausible.

THE Board of Claims will cease to examine and decide on claims against the State of Pennsylvania after the first of June next, when the business of the Board will be conducted under the direction of the Auditor General.

PERSONAL.

—Lieutenant General Sherman and General Sheridan was in Chicago on Monday en route to the Indian country via Omaha.

—Mr. Forrest has been forty-nine years on the stage, a great part of that time he was the acknowledged monarch of it, so that no blame can attach to him for failing now. He is sixty-seven or sixty-eight years old, and is racked with rheumatism.

—A letter from Pesth says that the daughter of a man employed on the roads near that city, and who resided in a cottage between Alt-Ofen Ummm, has just confessed, in a fit of remorse, that in concert with her father she had committed not less than sixteen murders during the last ten years, for the purpose of robbing their victims. Seven skeletons had already been discovered by the authorities, and information given by the young woman had led to the finding of nine others.

—The latest bit of Parisian gossip is as follows: "The cure of Notre Dame de Lorette addressed his congregation—the most fashionable congregation in Paris—on Sunday last, and after scolding them for their stiff-neckedness, informed them that whoever should thenceforward attend the representation of a certain wicked play at the Theater Francais, called 'Paul Forestier,' should be excommunicated, the cure of the Madeleine having uttered a similar threat on the previous Sunday. M. Augier, the director of the Theater Francais, on hearing of the ban thus placed upon his establishment, is said to have replied: 'Very well, henceforward I shall decline to sell tickets of admission to my theater to whoever shall attend the representations at the Madeleine and at Notre Dame de Lorette.'"

—The funeral of King Ludwig, of Bavaria, was quite an epoch in the history of undertaking. The body was embalmed on Sunday, March 1, the process taking seven hours. On Wednesday there was an exposition in a chapelle ardente, which had been put up for the occasion. The saloon was entirely draped with black, decorated with silver trappings and tears. On the left was an altar fully vested, and above the cross was an "L" surmounted by a crown borne up by kneeling angels. At this altar a succession of masses were said from 6 a. m. till noon. The King reposed upon a bed of white satin, ornamented with gold arabesques, and beneath a canopy surmounted by a crown enveloped in crape, and at the foot was a large silver Latin cross. Above the door was a coat of arms also covered with crape. The King was dressed in a Marshal's uniform, and upon it shone the foreign orders and stars which he possessed, and round his neck was the royal collar, and across it the ribbon of the Legion of Honor. His commander's sword was laid across his breast, and in his hand was the crucifix which he kissed just before his death. The railing was decorated with funeral lamps, and crowns woven out of camellias, roses, violets, lilacs, and other flowers. At his feet, fixed on a cushion, were the insignia of various foreign orders. Upon the left of the pillow was a Marshal's hat, with white plumes. Soldiers kept guard and stood before the altar.

—In the matter of professional fees, says the Boston Post, the giants of the New York bar—not to speak of the pigmies, are as fortunate as they are skillful. In the Jumel will case, for instance, Mr. Martin, who appeared for the defendant, received a fee of $10,000, while O'Conor, who gained the suit, pocketed $50,000 as his reward. These will cases, often involving the labor of weeks and even months in their preparation, and requiring an argument of interminable length, seem to be peculiarly profitable. The leading counsel in the Rose will case probably received a fee of $50,000, and in the Parish suit, involving a property of two millions, two hundred thousand dollars were paid in the same way. The late Daniel Lord numbered John Jacob Astor among his clients. He drew up the will of the millionaire and was one of the executors, drawing as his share for the latter service $10,000. Many of the best speculators in city property are found among the members of this profession. Mr. J. K. Whiting owns Broadway property renting for $27,000, and Mr. Marbury returns an income of $55,000, mostly from the same source, it is reported. But large as those incomes may seem, they are generally the fruit of hard and long-continued labor. Mr. Lord struggled for years without a sign of success, and at the age of 35 was on the point of giving up his profession for something which would afford him a living. It is generally the same story of the triumph of real ability after long trial.

—Of the growth of the Astor estate some idea may be formed by the fact that a few years ago Mr. Astor paid a tax of $40,000. This year his tax is $240,000, a sum equal to $700 per day, while Commodore Vanderbilt only pays $40,000, which is little more than $100 per day.

—It is rumored that Miss Dix, daughter of our Minister to Paris, is about to return home to be united in marriage to a gentleman of Brooklyn. Miss D. is a great favorite in Parisian society, and her withdrawal therefrom is looked forward to with regret.

—On account of the heroism displayed by the Princess Salm Salm in Mexico on behalf of Maximilian, the imperial family of Austria have taken her under its protection and placed a handsome competency at her disposal. This, for a Canadian ballet dancer, is pretty good.

—The Menken has had another triumph. She has won Swinburne, the poet of the passions, and been photographed at London "in conjunction" with him. It makes even the big and busy town talk, and helps to let the outside world know what sort of a fellow Swinburne is.

—In the darkest days of the Atlantic telegraph enterprise, a friend of Cyrus Field's bought ten thousand dollars of stock for a ten dollar bill. Mr. Field offered to take the stock at a considerable advance. "Well, but what do you advise me to do, Mr. Field?" "Take your stock home," was the reply, "lock it up in your safe, and never look at it, or think of it till you come to me for your dividends on it." And that man is now receiving on his investment of ten dollars, eight hundred dollars per annum in gold.

—The Boston correspondent of the Springfield Republican, speaking of the Atlantic for April says: Parton's article on Catholicism is severely criticised, and people say that only this was wanting to confirm the long growing impression that all his Atlantic articles, like that on a certain silver-ware establishment, are written not exclusively in the interest of the public.

Horrible Results of Famine.

An Algerian paper, the Echo d'Oran, has the following: "No historical famine has presented to the saddened eyes of humanity so horrible a spectacle as that which is at this moment to be observed among the Arabs. Two days ago a native woman in the neighborhood of Misserghin killed her daughter, twelve years of age, and gave the flesh to her other children and partook of it herself. The legal authorities hearing of the circumstance at once proceeded to the spot, and on entering the hut occupied by these cannibals, learned that the heart, the liver, and the inferior portions of the corpse were eaten, because they could not keep. The mother was occupied in salting the flesh, cut up into pieces, exactly as is done with pork."

IT is represented that the New York Democratic leaders are aware of the delicacy of the "situation," are trying their best to harmonize matters. They advise, as a mere matter of policy, that the financial question be sunk altogether in the National Convention, as it is impossible that the East and West can agree. They admit that Mr. Belmont's position as a business agent for European bondholders is not a felicitous one in connection with his political associations here, but as his displacement now would have the effect of committing the party to that extent to Mr. Pendleton, they don't think it wise to take any decisive action with reference to it. The Western Democracy are still clamorous (in a quiet way, so to speak) for the removal of Mr. August Belmont from the position he occupies in the National Democratic Executive Committee. Prominent Ohio and Illinois Democrats are here, using their influence to induce him to resign. They consider him a stumbling block in Mr. Pendleton's way, and as such a very good man to be rid of. But Mr. Belmont, it is probable, will not budge to oblige them.

A WASHINGTON dispatch says that the committee on coinage, weights and measures is anxious that Mr. Kelley, its chairman, shall urge the passage, at the earliest practical period, of his new coinage bill, which provides for a uniformity in the one, three and five cent pieces, instead of having so many varieties of those denominations, and it abolishes both the five and ten cent fractional currency. The mint has furnished specimens of the new coin, which are said to excite general admiration. The three and five cent coins are to remain at their present weight, while the one cent piece is to be smaller than the latest issue of one cent pieces. There will certainly be an advantage in getting rid of the small fractional currency, since those pieces, being from their value in most constant circulation among the dirtiest hands, soon become worn and filthy.

THE Legislature of Ohio, wherein the Democrats have a majority, it is understood will continue in session until after the question of impeachment is settled, in order that the majority may control the appointment to the vacancy created by the advancement of Senator Wade. This is an important matter—the possession of an office for nine months—and it must not be supposed that a great national party like the Democratic will shirk the responsibility. To permit the Governor to fill the vacancy, would be to promote directly the interests of the Radicals, and that they have pledged themselves not to do.

YOUNG Mr. Tyng does not appear to care much for the reprimand the Bishop gave him or the trial he underwent, for preaching in a Methodist meeting house in New Jersey. Last Sunday evening he preached in a Baptist meeting house in New York. Was this a repetition of the offense, or did he offend only in going into New Jersey to preach in a Methodist meeting house?

A curious case was lately decided in Ohio. A man offered to vote at an election, but the judges refused his ballot on the ground that he was a non-resident. The man's wife is an inmate of a lunatic asylum, and the intelligent judges decided that that was where his residence must be. He brought suit and recovered damages, however.

Railroad South from Cincinnati.

The Cincinnati Commercial of Monday says: Projects for a railroad directly Southward in the interests of Cincinnati have for some weeks, or even months, been so little talked about that some appear to have come to the conclusion that the whole subject has been dropped, and the quiet indifference of our people taken for an assurance that such a thing was not wanted. We are happy to know, however, that such a delusion can not be entertained. Some have not only been thinking about the matter, but one of our citizens has been working industriously to see what facts may be collected and made tangible out of all that has been accomplished, suggested or hoped for, in reference to the undertaking. All this work is presented by Mr. Samuel H. Goodin in a carefully prepared pamphlet.

CITY MATTERS.

REPORT OF THE FIRE ALARM TELEGRAPH.—Superintendent S. T. Paisley, of the Fire Alarm and Police Telegraph, furnishes the following report for the month of March: During the month eleven alarms were sounded. The total number of blows struck on the big bell was four hundred and seventy-nine; of this number two hundred and forty-eight was for the hours, and two hundred and thirty-one for alarms. The total loss by fire was $22,171, on which there was a total insurance of $[illegible]. The largest fire of the month was at Moore & Nichols's glass house in Lawrenceville. Sixty-seven police messages were transmitted over the wires.

Another Improvement.

Another decided improvement, which will be of great service to the operator on duty at the Fire Alarm Telegraph Office, has been attached to the "tell-tale" clock in that office by George Wilson. Six times a day the city time is struck on the big bell, and very frequently the operator is otherwise engaged at the moment the bell should be struck. This arrangement warns him about a minute and a half prior to the time the hours. The attachment is merely a small gong, with peculiar sound, the machinery of which is operated by the clock. A moment before the time for striking the hour, the gong is sounded, and the operator is at once reminded of his duty.

Suspected Burglar Committed.

Henry Hill, and not Hall as stated yesterday, had a hearing before Deputy Mayor Owston last evening charged with having attempted to enter the store and dwelling of Mr. Kinser at East Liberty, on Tuesday morning. Officers Stokely and Bruno stationed at that point, it will be recollected, discovered Hill at work at a back door of the dwelling of Mr. Kinser. [illegible] which Hill ran, but was overtaken and captured. [illegible] The evidence adduced was conclusive and clearly established his guilt. He was accordingly committed for trial. Other charges are pending against him, which will be heard shortly.

Slight Fires.

About five minutes before three o'clock yesterday afternoon an alarm of fire was sounded from box 5, at the Eagle Engine House, on Fourth street, between Ferry and Liberty streets. The alarm was occasioned by the discovery of flames issuing from the roof of the dwelling of Mr. Glasser, on Hay street, near Penn. The Eagle engine was promptly on the spot, and succeeded in extinguishing the flames before any serious damage was done. The fire caught from a defective flue.

About five o'clock yesterday morning a fire broke out in the straw room attached to the glass factory of Messrs. Reyer, Walker & Co., on Railroad street, East Birmingham. Fortunately, the flames were discovered before they had made much headway, and were extinguished with but very little damage.

United States Local Inspectors' Report.

In the United States District Court yesterday the report of the United States Local Inspectors for the quarter ending March 31st, 1868, was presented and filed. Following is the report:

Hon. W. McCandless, Judge of United States District Court, for Western District of Pennsylvania.—Dear Sir: We have the honor to herewith submit our report of the doings of this Board, for the quarter ending March 31st, 1868. During the quarter we have inspected forty-one vessels of all classes, having a total tonnage of 11,581 14-100 tons, viz:

| | No. | Tons. |
|---|---|---|
| Passenger steamers | 14 | 5,[illegible] 14-100 |
| Towing steamers | 25 | 5,[illegible] |
| Canal propeller | 1 | [illegible] |
| Ferry-boat | 1 | [illegible] |
| Total | 41 | 11,581 14-100 |

We have issued licenses to seventy six engineers and seventy-four pilots; of the engineers three were original and seventy-three renewals. We have refused to raise the grade of two engineers, for incompetency. We have also refused to renew the license of one second engineer because of incompetency. We have ordered repairs to be made on the boilers of twenty steamers.

After a careful examination of the hull and machinery of the steamer Ingomar, a packet plying between this port and Wheeling, we found that the hull would require to be thoroughly repaired before being safe and seaworthy, new planking and timbers being right aft defective. [illegible]

[illegible]

All of which is respectfully submitted.

G. P. ATKINSON,
SAMUEL WALKER,
United States Local Inspectors of Steam Vessels.

AQUATICS.

Hamill Replies to Coulter—He Will Row Him Five Miles for $4,000, in the East—$200 Forfeit Up.

Our readers interested in boating matters will be glad to hear that Jimmy Hamill has at length replied to Coulter, and that all the rumors about him retiring from the race course, are groundless. The "Little Engine" is always ready at the right time, and never wastes many words out of season. The Clipper, in introducing Hamill's letter, says:

[illegible]

PITTSBURGH, March 26th, 1868.—FRIEND QUEEN: Last fall, after my race with the great Walter Brown, I was challenged by Mr. Henry Coulter, of Manchester, Pa., which I declined, owing to being out of condition and the lateness of the season. But I offered, through your paper, to row Mr. Coulter this summer, over any course that the Eastern boat clubs would designate as the champion five mile course. That offer has never been accepted by Mr. Coulter, and seems to be ignored entirely [illegible] I will not accept. Mr. Coulter and his friends know that I will not row at Pittsburgh on any conditions, and it is useless for them to ask it.

But, to show that I mean business, I will row Mr. Coulter a five mile race for two thousand dollars ($2,000) a side over the same course at Springfield that the Ward brothers and the St. John's crew rowed over last year. [illegible] and also wish to get rid of that local bad feeling which has been too prevalent in the late races. I will also say that the Springfield course I have never seen, and therefore should have no advantage over Mr. Coulter. Should the Eastern rowboat clubs select a five mile course for the championship this summer, I will agree to row Mr. Coulter over it. Inclosed please find two hundred dollars as a forfeit for the above match, which I think is fair, and can hardly be refused by Mr. Coulter or his friends, if they really want to make it.

Yours, truly,
JAMES HAMILL.

The Homoepathic Hospital.

The average number of patients have been admitted to the Hospital during the past month. Only three persons required the attention of Surgeons, as follows: One man had the bones of his leg fractured; another had his collar bone broken, and another had his leg injured to such an extent that it had to be amputated. The patients are rapidly recovering.

The report of the Dispensary Physician shows a large increase. While the number of prescriptions issued during February was two hundred and thirty-six; in March there were three hundred and forty-six applications for treatment, many cases requiring operative procedure. The Dispensary is open for the treatment of the poor, free of charge, from 11 to 12 o'clock every day, except Sunday, at the hospital on Second street, above Smithfield street.

Anecdote of Admiral Farragut at Florence.

[Florence (March ) Correspondence of the London Times.]

Before proceeding southward, Admiral Farragut had visited some of the North Italian cities, and has everywhere met with a most flattering reception. On Thursday the City of Genoa entertained him at a banquet in the great room of the Townhall. There was a good deal of speech-making, and the guest of the evening paid some handsome compliments to the Genoese flag and to the skill of Genoese navigators, while the Syndic coupled Columbus and Garibaldi as natives of that Liguria of which Genoa claims to be the head and the heart, and as both of them forming a link between Italy and America. Farragut evidently finds great pleasure in revisiting the places which he last visited fifty years ago, and of which a strong impression was left upon his then boyish mind and memory. I must tell you a good story which brings together his two Mediterranean cruises, made at an interval of half a century. In the year 1816, being at Tunis, he was much struck by a ponderous piece of bronze ordnance, cast in Italy in the 17th century, and of which the breech terminated in a particularly fine bald and bearded head, said to be that of the Apostle Paul. This gun took a firm hold of the midshipman's memory, and fifty years later, when the Admiral was on his way to Europe, he spoke of it to his officers and expressed his intention of looking in at Tunis to see it, and his hope that he, perhaps, might be able to acquire it. The topic seems to have been often uppermost in his conversation, for "the Admiral's gun" came to be a standing joke among the officers. When Farragut was at Florence he was taken to the most remarkable building, and among others to the old Palace of the Podesta, more commonly known as the Bargello, long a prison, but in which several rooms are now set apart as a museum of antiquities. As Farragut was making the tour of the wonderful picturesque court of the building, where some pieces of sculpture and other objects are displayed, he suddenly exclaimed "there's my gun." And sure enough, his gun it was: the very piece he had seen more than half a century previously, and which he intended going to see again at Tunis. It is a remarkable piece of ordnance, which may have been murderous enough in its day, although now more in its place in a museum than in a battery. Inscriptions upon it, cast in relief, show it to have been the work of the Florentine Cosimo Cenni, executed in 1638, under the reign of Ferdinand II., Grand Duke of Etruria. By that Prince it was sent as a present to Venice, and it is said, according to the chronicle of the Bargello, to have been taken by the Barbary corsairs in a successful raid executed upon the territory of the Republic. There is a certain amount of intercourse between Italy and Tunis, in which latter country there exists a considerable Italian colony, and a year or two ago it occurred to the Pasha that the gun in question having been cast in Florence would be a suitable present to the monarch who had lately transferred his capital thither. Thus has it come to pass that St. Paul's cannon now lies in the inner court of the Bargello, with a ticket attached to it, declaring it is the property of the King, and it is to be feared the Admiral has not much chance of taking it with him on his return to the United States. It may be some consolation to him to know that the guardians of the gate and galleries of the old Guelph Palace are perfectly acquainted with the circumstance of his old acquaintance with and constant affection for it, and that the handsome piece of bronze, with the magnificent bearded head, is likely to become traditional as "the Admiral's gun."

Great Oyster Eaters.—In all countries there are records of the excessive fondness of great men for oysters. Cervantes was an oyster-lover, and he satirized the oyster fancy of Spain. Louis XI. careful lest scholarship should become deficient in France, feasted the learned doctors of Sorbonne once a year on oysters; and another Louis invested his cook with an order of nobility as a reward for his oyster cooking. Napoleon was also an oyster-lover; so was Rousseau and Turgot used to eat a hundred or two just to whet his appetite for breakfast. Invitations to a dish of oysters were common in the literary and artistic circles of Paris at the latter end of the last century. The Encyclopedists were particularly fond of oysters. Helvetius, Diderot, the Abbe Raynal, Voltaire, and others, were confirmed oyster-men. Before the revolution the violent politicians were in the habit of constantly frequenting the Parisian oyster-shops; and Danton, Robespierre and others were fond of the oyster in their days of innocence. The great Napoleon, on the eve of his battles, used to partake of the bivalve, and Cambaceres was famous for his shell-fish banquets. Even at this day the consumption of oysters in Paris is enormous. According to recent statistics, the quantity eaten there is one million a day!

Among English celebrities, Alexander Pope was an oyster-eater of taste, so was Dean Swift, who was fond of lobsters as well. Thomson of "The Seasons," who knew all good things, knew how good a thing an oyster was. The learned Dr. Richard Bently could never pass an oyster-shop without having a few; and there have been hundreds of subsequent Englishmen who, without coming up to Bently in other respects, have resembled him in this. The Scottish philosophers too of the last century—Hume, Dugald Stewart, Cullen, &c.—used frequently to indulge in the "whiskered pandores" of the day and generation. "Oyster-ploys," as they were called, were frequently held in the quaint and dingy taverns of the old town of Edinburgh. These Edinburgh oyster-taverns of the old time were usually situated under ground, in the cellar-floor; and even in the course of long winter evenings the carriages of the quality folks would be found waiting up and setting down fashionable ladies, to partake of oysters and porter, plenteously but rudely served. What oysters have been to the intellect of Edinburgh in later times, who needs to be told that has heard of Christopher North and read the "Noctes Ambrosianae."

Sponge is a light, porous, and very compressible substance, found adhering to rocks, shell, and other surfaces under the water. It was formerly considered a marine plant, but modern science has given it a place in the animal kingdom. It belongs however, to the very lowest order, never exhibiting the least sign of sensation. Sponge consists of a horny tissue in which are usually imbedded fragments of mineral matter, and small shells, particularly in those of coarse texture and large size. It is traversed throughout by innumerable pores, some very minute, with here and there larger ones among them termed vents. Examined by a microscope in their living state, water is seen constantly passing out of those vents in currents, and it is supposed that it as constantly passes in through the small pores, thus producing a very obscure motion of circulation. The microscope also shows the entire network of the sponge to be composed of fine tubes. As an animal it lives on the water, and what the water holds in solution, and therefore it is necessary that water should be constantly passing through it. There are many species of sponge, differing in size, shape and texture. The bottle sponge, so called from its having the form of a bottle, is perhaps the most curious. Its absorbing pores are all on the outside, while the vents are within, so that there is all the time a strong current pouring from the mouth of the bottle. Sponges are found in many parts of the world, but those produced in salt water and in warm climates are considered the most valuable. In some of the Greek islands the inhabitants make it a business to obtain them by diving. They adhere very firmly to the rocks and are detached with difficulty. When taken from the water they are covered by a soft gelatinous matter, which is removed by washing. The mineral fragments are taken out either by beating the sponge till they are reduced to powder which passes off in the water, or by placing the sponge in an acid which dissolves the granules. When this process is finished it is ready for use. Sponges serve a great variety of useful purposes both in the arts and medicine, and contribute in a thousand ways to cleanliness and health.

The American Beaver.

A recent work on the American Beaver, by Mr. Morgan, whose labors appear to have been conscientious and intelligently directed, refutes some of the current ideas about that animal. Instead of being endowed with little less than human instinct, Mr. Morgan denies the stories that have been related to give him such a character. The beavers, it seems, do not live in communities, work in gangs, or "inhabit jointly owned houses. They go to their work singly "at intervals of half an hour apart," "each beaver acting independently, and without concert with his mates," though in cases of emergency, such as the breaking of a dam, "several of them have been seen working together." The belief in the ... ous labor is no doubt largely due to the great size of some of the dams, but after careful examination of some hundreds of those structures, Mr. Morgan is satisfied, and gives reasons which seem absolutely final, that "the larger dams were not the joint product of the labor of large numbers of beavers working together, but that they arose from small beginnings, and were built upon year after year, until they finally reached that size which exhausted the capabilities of the location, after which they were maintained for centuries, at the accustomed standard, by constant repairs;" that, furthermore, they have been "usually, if not invariably," commenced by the single pair or family which intended building by them, other lodges being built in the pond as it increased in size, when the whole population—not a colony of community—would be interested in the maintenance of the dam. They are social, however, in that the pairs are faithful to each other, and each family consists of the parents and of the offspring of two years, the average number of all inhabiting each lodge, by the trappers' estimates, being eight. That houses are inhabited by more than one family, or even consist of more than one apartment, or have the symmetry of form invariably attributed to them, is wholly erroneous. Mr. Morgan avers that the engineering skill attributed to the beaver he does not possess, though a certain kind of sagacity he does possess, and we are sorry to say that this animal is now growing scarce and is likely to disappear altogether with diminished fame for many qualities which have been conceded to him, but which close observation has shown that he does not possess.

Come! All you that have been suffering the untold miseries of Tooth-ache and dread their extraction, will find that Dr. Spencer, No. 254 Penn street, the originator of Laughing Gas in Pittsburgh, is ready to relieve you by the use of his great pain destroyer.

The extraction of teeth under the influence of this agent is a source of pleasure, rather than of pain. Remember, that the citizens of Pittsburgh are indebted to Dr. S., for the introduction of this invaluable pain killing agent in this city. From forty to sixty patients inhale the gas at his extensive steam dental establishment daily. And to satisfy the public that this preparation is no humbug, Dr. Spencer will give a reward of $50 if he fails to extract the most difficult tooth without pain.

Have no fears regarding the safety of the gas, as it is as harmless as water, and has been administered in schools and on the stage for over fifty years for merely amusement, and without a single fatal result. Your attention is particularly invited to Dr. Spencer's artificial teeth, which are warranted, and are furnished as cheap as any first-class responsible dentist can make them, and positively 50 per cent. better than can be obtained at any other establishment in the State. No. 254 Penn street is the place, and persons that have been unable to procure artificial teeth that they could masticate with would do well to call on the Doctor, and one word for it, they will not have to go any farther.

Important to Glass Manufacturers, Rolling Mill Owners, Plasterers, Brick-layers, etc.

We were yesterday shown samples of pure White Rock Sand and Bank Sand prepared under a patented process by Messrs. L. M. & N. Q. Spear of this city. The indubitable evidences of superiority which these samples bore excited a desire to witness the process of crushing and washing invented by the Messrs. Spear, and we accordingly visited their works on the river bank, between Grant and Ross streets, just beyond Bigley's coal depot. The process is at once simple and effectual. The White Rock is thrown into a mill and thoroughly pulverized by a series of stamps or crushers, worked by cams, and is then passed off into troughs where the sand is perfectly washed of all foreign substances by screw conveyers in a running stream of pure water. An examination of the White Rock sand prepared by this method will furnish judges with the most satisfactory proof that it is absolutely clean. Such sand as this is cannot fail to find its way speedily into every flint and lime glass manufactory in this region. It is really the most desirable White Rock Sand we have ever seen, and glass manufacturers are invited by the Messrs. Spear to call at the works and see the crushing and washing process in operation. The Bank Sand sold by this firm is likewise a superior article. Indeed, it is the cleanest sand of the kind that can be procured. It is washed by the same process as the White Rock sand, and is now in great demand by green glass manufacturers, rolling mill owners, plasterers, brick-layers, &c. Both of these sands are sold at the lowest cash prices. The Messrs. Spear enjoy splendid facilities for promptly filling all orders, and can and will sell as cheap as any other firm engaged in this line of business. The White Rock sand is brought from Laytonstation, Connellsville Railway, where they have one of the finest quarries in the country. The works are located in this city, and either sand can be carted directly from it to the factories, mills, &c., of buyers, or conveyed by rail or water to any destination. The Messrs. Spear are desirous that all who use either White Rock or Bank sands will favor their works with a visit and give their sands a fair examination, as they are confident that it is the best in the market, and that they have discovered the most expeditious and perfect method of producing it.

Elegant Residence and Grounds at Auction.

This day at half past two o'clock, P. M., on the premises, will be sold that desirable residence and grounds of James P. Tanner, Esq., corner of Cliff and Gum streets and Bedford avenue. The improvements consist of a three-story modern style mansion, containing sixteen commodious rooms, with all the modern improvements incident to first class dwellings. Lot seventy-five feet front on Cliff street by 280 feet on Gum street to Bedford avenue. Also the vacant lot opposite. See advertisement. Smithson, Vanhook & McClelland, Auctioneers.

Employment and Boarding House Bureau.

It has been for some time past a desideratum to have a reliable employment and boarding house bureau established for our two cities and suburbs. Messrs. Hibbard & Co., No. 289 Penn street, have succeeded in establishing a bureau of this kind, where employers can be supplied with good help at a moment's warning, and employees with a suitable position in the same manner. Boarding houses can be supplied constantly with boarders, and boarders can find places of accommodation according to their tastes and means. Save your time and money, and apply to the Boarding House and Employment Bureau, No. 289 Penn street, corner of Hancock street.

The Sweets of Sleep.

It often happens that when most anxious to win the caresses of balmy sleep, we find the delicious goddess uncertain, coy and difficult of attainment. This is chiefly attributed to the nature of the couch. All who would enjoy a pleasant, unbroken, undisturbed and healthful night's rest, will hail with delight the India Rubber Spring Bed Bottom. In all particulars it is, without exception, the cheapest, best, most durable and neatest ever constructed. All manner of bugs fly from it, and it can be readily fitted to any sized bedstead or lounge. The India Rubber Spring Bed Bottom is now on exhibition at Edmundson & Co's, Nos. 96 and 98 Third street. P. M. Shannon, agent.

Spring Medicine.

Every individual is in duty bound to carefully look after his or her health during the Spring season. There are many false methods of doing this, and the accompaniments of the medicines frequently given for this purpose are shown in results of the most damaging character to the human system. But there is a medicine which enters swiftly into the circulation of the blood and takes a firm hold on everything detrimental to health found in the stomach, purifying the blood at the same time that it renovates the system. This medicine is Whittier's Herb Bitters, which has performed so many astonishing cures, as well as saved so many precious lives. It soon changes the entire appearance and condition of the diseased body, under its influence the most repulsive forms of disease peculiar to the present season are destroyed, and the individual liberated from his misery and invested with all the attributes of health and beauty. Sold by all respectable druggists. Messrs. Fahnestock & Holton, Managers of Branch Wholesale House, No. 29 Market street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Selling Off at Cost.

A rare stock of jewelry at Reineman, Meyran & Seidle's, No. 29 Fifth street, prior to removing into their new and elegant building, No. 42 Fifth street. 2w

Unimpeachable.

Indigestion—the most fruitful generator of disease, so common as not to be considered dangerous—slowly and surely saps the foundation of health, for, with impaired digestion, it is impossible for food to afford strength to the system. Dyspepsia invariably follows this disease, and dyspeptics owe all their sufferings to indigestion. Nervous and sick headache also spring from derangement of the digestive organs. Persons of sedentary habits frequently suffer from these evils, which are attended with a nervous irritability of temper, extremely unpleasant to others and a source of misery to themselves. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS has been found the safest and best means of removing all digestive obstructions, as well as bracing up the failing system. Those whose occupations are mental recognize in this preparation the perfection of medical skill, as it soothes the excited brain; headache disappears under its potent charm, and the patient rapidly regains health and strength by its restoring power. To the aged, as well as delicate ladies and children, it is admirably suited, as it possesses the quality of invigorating without excitement or reaction.

An immense amount of unimpeachable evidence can be produced to prove that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is unequalled for its prompt and ever reliable action in alleviating and curing all diseases of the stomach. Its superior excellence and consequent renown is readily accounted for from the well-known fact that it is made under the personal supervision of the proprietors, in strict accordance with pharmaceutic science.

Similia Similibus Curantur.

PILES! PILES!! PILES!!! WHAT IS IT? HOW CURED?

Thousands of persons have Piles—suffer for years with the disease—yet few know what it is or how it is cured. Every case of Piles, whether manifested in the form of external tumors, frequent bleedings, or in violent itching and irritation, depends essentially upon congestion of the abdominal venous circulation. This produces the engorgement, dilation of the veins, formation of tumors, hemorrhages, pain and suffering; and the disease can only be fundamentally cured by medicines which, taken internally, relieve this venous congestion. Hence ointments, washes, and even injections, are so ineffectual.

HUMPHREY'S HOMŒOPATHIC PILE SPECIFIC, a simple sugar pill, taken two or three times per day, cures the disease by curing the condition upon which the disease depends. Hundreds have been cured by it, even of the most obstinate cases. All will be promptly benefited by it. Price, 50 cents a box.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, April 1st, 1868.

An active demand characterized the local money market to-day. Most of the discount houses have their compliment of bills receivable, and are not inclined to take any more this week even if it is gilt edged. The banks generally have got all snug, and do not care to do anything that may hazard their good condition on the 6th of this month, and are consequently holding on, doing nothing except for those whose claims are paramount to all ordinary considerations. Rates are consequently firm, and those who must have money are obliged to forego all prejudices in regard to charges, whenever they can find accommodation. To customers, however, where banks are in a condition to lend, the charges are generally fixed at the orthodox rate, with sufficient variations to suit the condition of the market.

—The New York Financial Bulletin remarks that Governments are quite dull and weak. There is a steady flow of bonds into the market, and as the Government refuses to pay over 103½ for seven-thirties, there is a disposition to put down the price so as to admit of the Government making purchases and thereby relieving the market.

—The New York stock market retains the increased activity of yesterday. Transactions are more evenly distributed over the list, and prices are generally strong. There is some disposition to get hold of stocks, in anticipation of a sharp upward movement after the banks have passed through the ordeal of the quarterly return. New York Central and Erie have ruled slightly below the closing figures of yesterday. In the miscellaneous list there is more movement, Western Union Telegraph Quicksilver, and Union Navigation being especially active and firm.

The following table, as reported by J. W. Kennedy, broker, will show a comparative range of prices for the past week:

[illegible]

—The Herald of yesterday says: An artificial rise was engineered in the stock market by the clique operating in Erie and New York Central, but as it is designed to "milk the street," there is not much temptation to buy at the advance from the sharpers who are pulling the wires with the sole object of fleecing the public and filling their own pockets. Erie continues to engross attention, but nothing new has transpired in relation to legislative or legal proceedings in the contest, except that Governor Ward, of New Jersey, has signed the bill giving corporate rights to the Erie Company in that State. This bill allows the company in question to "exercise all the powers and franchises of such company" within the State of New Jersey the same as in the State of New York, including the establishment of an office for the transfer of stock. It is probable, moreover, that the bill now pending in the Senate at Albany, legalizing the recent acts of the company, and permitting the issue of convertible bonds, as the necessities of the company may require, will pass; and meanwhile the injunction of Judge Ingraham, of the Supreme Court, prevents the receiver of the proceeds of the new stock appointed by Judge Barnard from taking any action whatever under the receivership.

—James W. Kennedy has succeeded S. S. Bryan, Esq., in the Stock Commission business, at No. 90 Fourth street, in Apollo Building. Stocks, promissory notes, bonds, mortgages, &c., bought and sold. Loans negotiated at low rates on collaterals, such as sound dividend stocks, United States, Municipal, State or Railroad bonds. Being in direct telegraphic communication with the New York Stock Boards, when in session, he can execute orders for the purchase or sale of railroad stocks, government securities, gold, &c., at the same rates and terms required by the brokers in that city.

COAL MARKETS.

BOSTON.

The Bulletin reports the market very bare of all foreign descriptions, which are selling to arrive at a material reduction from rates current on the spot. Domestic coals are in better supply, and gas companies are making contracts for seasonable supplies at figures somewhat below those of last year. English Cannel is scarce, but there are considerable supplies on the way. We note small sales, for immediate delivery, at $28@30; and for large lots, to arrive, at $20 ₩ ton. In Nova Scotia there are no stocks at hand; 80,000 tons Block Island have been contracted for, by gas companies, at $1 75 ₩ ton, delivered at mines; and the price of Sydney and Pictou has been fixed at the mines at $2 25 ₩ ton, gold, less 5 per cent., which is a reduction of 5 per cent. from last year's rates. Cumberland coal is selling, delivered in Baltimore, at $4 75, and in lots arrive, at $10 25 ₩ ton. An invoice of 150 tons Newcastle has been sold to arrive at $10 25 ₩ ton. In Pennsylvania and Westmoreland gas 5,000 tons of the former, for gas purposes, have been contracted for at $7 20 ₩ ton, to be delivered in Philadelphia. Anthracite is in better supply, and prices are unsettled, with sales in retail lots at $9@10 ₩ ton.

CINCINNATI.

During the past week there has been no material change in coal. There is but little afloat, and it is selling at 16@17c ₩ bushel. The yards are well supplied, and retailers are delivering Youghiogheny at Pittsburgh at 16c. Large receipts are anticipated soon.

LOUISVILLE.

Holders of Pittsburgh afloat are asking 16c in barges; none in boats. Retail sales at 20c ₩ bushel, or $5 for 25 bushels delivered. Pomeroy coal to boats at 14c, and 16c at retail.

Wheat Trade of England.

The London correspondent of the Financial Chronicle remarks under date of March 14th: In the wheat trade much inactivity continues to prevail. Although the supplies brought forward have not been entirely disposed of, no decline has taken place in the value either of home grown or foreign produce. An impression now seems to prevail that wheat has certainly reached its highest point, and that there is a prospect of a decline in value. As I stated last week, however, it does not seem to me likely that any important variation will take place at present. The agricultural prospect is still promising, and not only is there an increased breadth of land under cultivation here, but the cultivation of wheat has also been augmented abroad, so that, with an average yield per acre, the total production will be large. But at the same time there is still very little old wheat to consume with the new produce, and hence we shall soon make a heavy draught on the supplies of the latter. [illegible]

Prospects of Sugar in Louisiana.

A Bayou Goula planter, writing to the New Orleans Crescent, under date of March 21st, says: Planting is over. The seed cane, with the exception of that put up badly, or too late, has kept well. The ratoons are magnificent. Fall planting has already a "stand," and with it spring planting bids fair to make a "dead heat." The freedmen are working better and more cheerfully than at any time since the war. If only let alone they will naturally—"fall into line"—and only help the masters and themselves. [illegible]

Milwaukee Market.

MILWAUKEE, April 1.—Flour less active; common to medium $9 75@10 50; favorite spring extra $10 50@10 75; ... Wheat dull ... Oats dull and lower at 55@56c for No. 2. Corn nominal at 80c.

Gold Closed at 138⅜@138½.

NEW YORK, April 1—P. M.

MONEY.

There was the most active money market to-day since the squeeze commenced. As high as 20 per cent has been paid for carrying gold, and on stocks 7 in gold has been the rate with, in many instances, an extra commission of 1-32 to ⅛ per cent. The printed lists show a wide difference in stocks sold cash and buyer's option of 5 to 30 days. One per cent. has been paid above the regular price for buyer's option of 30 days. The stock market, however, stood it very well. The quarterly report of the National Banks will be made on Monday next. An ease up in the money market is expected, and a rise in stocks. Erie and Central are still the cards. Little attention is paid to the rest of the list.

MATTERS AND THINGS ALONG THE WHARF.—Business along the landing was active. The receipts were large and shipments were of a similar description. Cheap freights are going forward freely. The departures include the Gray Eagle, for Parkersburg, and the America for Nashville. The arrivals were larger than usual. The Argosy is announced for Cincinnati this day, positively. The New State has her shingle up for the same destination. The J. N. McCullough is the Parkersburg packet for this day. The Melnotte will cut loose this afternoon for the Upper Mississippi.

THE Enterprise, loaded with cotton for New Orleans, struck a log and knocked down her chimneys and broke her guards. She repaired at Little Rock.

THE fine side-wheel passenger boat J. N. McCullough, Captain Moore, is the Parkersburg packet for this day. She leaves punctually at noon.

THE far-famed steamer St. Charles, Capt. Dravo, is the Friday Cincinnati packet. This boat has great speed, superior accommodations, and attentive officers.

THE well known packet Melnotte, Captain Kennington, takes her departure this day positively for St. Louis and the Upper Mississippi. To persons going direct through a fine opportunity is presented.

THE fine packet New State, Captain J. Harrison, leaves this day positively for Cincinnati, at 5 P. M. To persons going that way a fine opportunity is presented.

ARKANSAS river has declined very rapidly. Several boats were caught above Little Rock by the decline. The Hambleton, a small boat, sunk forty miles above Little Rock on Friday. No insurance. Boat a total loss.

THE fine steamer Importer, Captain Williams, is being fitted up in a superior manner. She will take her departure for the Mountains on Saturday, so get ready. Captain Williams is an officer of large experience on the Missouri river.

HO! FOR THE UPPER MISSISSIPPI.—The punctual passenger steamer Kenton, Captain J. H. Dunlap, is announced for the Upper Mississippi. This boat is noted for speed, superior accommodations and attentive officers.

THE People's Line Packets leave their wharf boat daily at 5 P. M., for Monongahela City, Brownsville and Geneva. These boats have unsurpassed accommodations, and are in charge of careful and attentive officers.

THE first-class passenger packet "Armenia" Captain A. C. McCallam is announced for Missouri River as an independent packet. This boat is one of the best of her class afloat, and is in charge of both experienced and attentive officers.

THE punctual passenger steamer Argosy, Captain L. Vandergrift, leaves this day positively for Cincinnati and way points. This boat has the best of accommodations, and is in charge of careful and attentive officers. Mr. W. H. Scott, who has charge of the office will see that passengers have the best of attention.

THE attention of our readers is called to the card of Messrs. Ghriest & Haslett, commission merchants and general steamboat agents. Any business entrusted to them will meet with prompt attention. Both have had large experience in the steamboat business. Our best wishes accompany the new firm.

THE first-class packet "Armadillo," Captain D. L. Henderson takes her departure for Missouri river on Saturday, positively. This boat has been fitted up expressly for the spring trade, and offers very superior accommodation to passengers and shippers.

As will be seen by a card in another column, Capt. G. W. Johnson announces the fine steamer Glasgow for St. Paul and points above and intermediate. The boat has excellent appointments, and is admirably officered. Passengers and shippers will find it to their interest to call on Captain Johnson or his agents early.

THE punctual steamer New York, Captain Richmond, is announced for Cincinnati and Louisville on Friday. This boat makes her trips with great regularity, and does her business in a satisfactory manner. Our esteemed friend Capt. Golding will be found in the office. The Captain has plenty of friends.

NAVIGATING THE KAW.—The Lawrence Tribune says: We have heard it intimated that the navigation of the Kaw river again is seriously contemplated, and a project is on foot to commence operations the coming summer. It is proposed to build three or four flat-bottomed boats, to draw as little water as possible, to be attached to a small steam tug. It is thought freight can be transported from here to Wyandotte and Kansas City much cheaper by this means than by railroad. The project appears practicable, and, no doubt would repay the parties engaging in it.

RED RIVER.—The Shreveport Gazette, of the 22d says: Red river opposite Shreveport is within nearly seven feet of high water mark of last season. Upper Red river and tributaries are bank full and overflowing, and the whole country below Fulton is submerged, and the river still rising; hence to Jefferson rise counties, the person being waterbound almost completely.

Business on the landing has fallen off considerably, and bids fair to continue dull the balance of the season. But 3,100 bales of cotton have been shipped from Shreveport and Jefferson the past week, and there is hardly a boat here to load one of our larger packets, and but very little coming in. A number of the packets will certainly have to withdraw from the trade, as the returns certainly not meeting the necessary outlay of even our smaller craft.

CINCINNATI.—We clean the following from Tuesday's Enquirer: The river was about to be about at a stand last evening. It rose about ten inches in the previous twenty-four hours, with scant forty-nine feet in the channel and sixty-three feet large, under the bridge for passing steamers. The water will, no doubt, be subsiding to-day, and go down even more rapidly than it came up.

The weather yesterday was clear, warm and very pleasant.

Business on the wharf was very fair for Monday. The fine weather seemed to give an impetus to business. There were no departures outside the packets, but the arrivals were quite numerous.

The trade by which Cains Rusk and Byers transfer the Emperor to Capt. Val. Horton for his one-third interest in the Alice has been consummated. The Emperor was valued at $18,000. Captain Horton will use her for towing and carrying salt from Pomeroy to points below.

The St. Charles left with a good trip. She gets three hundred bags of wool, and other lots of freight at Maysville.

ST. LOUIS, March 30.—Already the following boats have departed for Fort Benton: Deer Lodge, Nile, Successor, Only Chance, Cora, Antelope, Carrie and Harry Adkins, with an aggregate of about one thousand tons freight and one hundred passengers. Four more will leave this week.

The Yorktown, Lorena, Luella Poe, Belle Vernon and Legal Tender arrived on the Ohio yesterday. Their passengers found boats awaiting them for the West. The Legal Tender leads for Cincinnati.

The weather is beautiful yet still declining.

Altogether there were five arrivals yesterday, full of freight and passengers. The Belle Vernon brought over 600 tons.

The Kountz line of steamers on their return will meet the steamers Isabella and Sam Gaty, exchange trips and go a second time to Benton.

The Glasgow, from Omaha, passed St. Joseph yesterday, for St. Louis, with five hundred tons of freight and one hundred and twenty-five passengers on board.

The Virginia arrived this evening.

The Republic is in from New Orleans. She again proved herself one of the fast boats on the Lower Mississippi.

The Maggie Hays passed up for Pittsburgh, from St. Louis yesterday, with a large. She discharged about fifty tons here.

The Wild Duck and barges from Pittsburgh, for St. Louis, passed down yesterday morning.

NEW ORLEANS.—The Times Wednesday says: We are certainly having the most delightful weather ever experienced in this usually blustering month of March. It seems as if spring had come in "earnest," and we hope the pleasant weather we are now enjoying may continue. but we are fearful that before the month of March leaves it will play some of its "old tricks," and go out with a "cold snap," and play the mischief with our gardens, which are now looking finely from the influence of an unusually early spring.

Business was tolerably brisk yesterday on the landing, and the few departing steamers left with good trips, and the Great Republic left on an extraordinary trip for the season.

The arrivals since our last are as follows: The Alice, from the lower coast; the Thomas Powell, from Bayou Lafourche; the Will Wagoner, from Natchez; the Betty Gilmore, from Lou Lafourche, and the Monsoon, from Red river, with a fine load of cotton and a cabin full of passengers.

Departures—The steamers that left yesterday were as follows: A. G. Brown, for Lower Coast; Thomas Powell, for Bayou Lafourche; Robert E. Lee, for Vicksburg; Ezra Porter and Frolic, for Red river; T. D. Hine for Minden and Great Republic, for St. Louis. The latter packet had one of the finest trips of the season. She had on board 150 cabin passengers, 200 on deck, and 1,000 tons of freight.
